sonic_subspace_navigation_and_spirit_of_place by Jaxson Payne

- Gathered a list of key dates, places, addresses and words from information provided by FIMTEC Research Group.
- Fed these into a text to speech program and recorded the individual translations.
- Each translation was then pitched down an octave, pitched down a fifth, pitched up a fifth, pitched up an octave and saved individually alongside the original unaltered translation.
- These five versions of each translated piece of information were then assigned a sampled synth note which had undergone the same re-pitching process.
- Each assigned translation was then set to play a total of three times at different set intervals over the space of four minutes and recorded down as individual tracks.
- These tracks were then stacked on top of one another completing the audio process.
- Each piece of information was then translated into blocks of repeated text on transparent backgrounds.
- These transparent text blocks were assigned to the corresponding audio translations and rendered as the final video piece.
